Steadfast becomes Borromin

Frankfurt am Main, January 2020. Steadfast Capital GmbH has changed its name to Borromin Capital Management GmbH. The name change became necessary due to the international expansion of its business activities, in the course of which there has been increased confusion with groups of companies with similar names. In order to avoid such confusions in the future, it has been decided to carry out this change of name.

The name Borromin has been chosen because it focuses on the company's logo (which remains unchanged) and its meaning, the Borromean rings: three intertwined rings, which symbolise strength through unity. At Borromin, the concept of the three interlocking rings symbolises the three principal parties involved in a transaction: the vendor, management and the investor. Our experience shows: The larger the overlap of interests, the more successful the project is likely to be for all concerned.

Borromin

Borromin is an independent private equity investor focusing on medium-size businesses within German speaking Europe and Benelux countries. Funds advised by Borromin invest in mid-size companies providing equity for succession issues, management buy-outs and also provide capital for growth opportunities. Borromin was founded in 2001 and follows a successful, value-oriented strategy of developing businesses from various sectors.

The fourth investment fund, Borromin Capital Fund IV SCS, SICAV-RAIF (Borromin Capital Fund IV, previously Steadfast Capital Fund IV), was closed in spring 2019 with a volume of € 300 million and has already made five acquisitions in 2019 with a total volume of € 110 million.

Borromin Capital Fund IV benefits from the financial backing of the European Union under the European Fund for Strategic Investments (“EFSI”) set up under the Investment Plan for Europe. The purpose of EFSI is to help support financing and implementing productive investments in the European Union and to ensure increased access to financing.
