Press Release

Borromin Capital Fund V acquires majority stake in Hollanddak

Frankfurt am Main, August 2026. As part of a management buy-out, Borromin Capital Fund V SCSp has acquired a majority stake in Hollanddak Groep B.V. and its operating subsidiary Hollanddak B.V. (together "Hollanddak"), a leading provider of roofing services for technically complex flat roofs with a focus on industrial and logistics buildings. The parties have agreed not to disclose the terms of the acquisition.

Hollanddak's service offering spans the entire lifecycle of flat roofs, including newbuild projects, renovation work, maintenance and ad-hoc service activities. The company primarily serves industrial, logistics, and commercial buildings and has established long-standing relationships with property developers, construction companies, real estate investors and property managers. Together with Hollanddak's management, Borromin will support the company's strategic development and geographical expansion further to strengthen its position as a leading lifecycle-oriented industrial roofing platform.

Viktor Strauch, Partner at Borromin: "Hollanddak is led by an experienced management team with deep industry expertise and long tenure within the business. The ageing industrial building stock, increasing technical roof complexity, and a highly fragmented competitive landscape offer excellent growth opportunities in The Netherlands and abroad. We look forward to working with a great team and supporting the company in the next phase of growth."

The debt financing of the transaction was provided by Oldenburgische Landesbank.

HOLLANDDAK

Founded in 1999 and headquartered in Waalwijk (NL), the Company has developed into a one-stop-shop for services around flat roofs, with a focus on medium and large-scale flat roofs, particularly within logistics, commercial and industrial buildings. The company has built a strong reputation for reliably delivering these demanding projects, combining technical expertise, structured project management, and consistent quality under tight timelines and challenging conditions.
